CURRENT STATE OF PRIVATE CAPITAL MARKETS

Overview

- Overall, the tenor of the debt market is aggressive with plenty of capital available for transactions
- Barbell market
 - High quality credits see pricing returning to pre-COVID levels
 - Storied credits, with a COVID recovery story, are being well received by the market
- Caution on credit quality
 - Equity contribution will remain in the 40% + range
 - Leverage multiples will remain muted
 - “Second way out” lending through asset-based structures are readily available and embraced by borrowers
 - Lenders continue to avoid industries slower to recover or may not recover
- Dividend recaps continue to gain momentum
- Financing activity has picked up over the last 90 days and is expected to accelerate over the next couple of quarters
- Low cashflow leverage or strong loan to asset values
- Recapitalizations will drive deal volume
 - Owners hedging their bets
 - PE firms returning capital to limited partners
 - Re-leveraging stretched balance sheets

Commentary

- Leverage multiples began to decline in late-2019 as lenders began to become more defensive over economic concerns heading into 2020
- Overall, the trend of larger deals afforded more leverage continued through 2020
- Anecdotally, Founders believes that leverage multiples may increase by a quarter of a turn in 2021

- The cost of debt capital is approaching pre-COVID levels
- Traditional mezzanine as a percentage of the capital stack has continued to decline
 - More aggressive senior lending prior to 2020
 - Higher equity contribution in 2020 to fortify deals
- Founders expects that the cost of subordinated debt will remain steady as the supply of capital in the market is offset by demand as senior lenders pull back on leverage
